

A Big Heart to help TAR students

Text books nowadays are costing more than it should be especially tertiary education text books. RM75,000 was contributed by Madam Tan Siok Choo to help The Tun Tan Siew Sin Book Loan Scheme. This book scheme is to help students pursue higher education without the burden of expensive text books. Madam Tan is the daughter of the late Tun Tan Siew Sin who is the founder of TAR College and the very first president of the college. The book loan scheme was launched on 10th August 2009 during TAR College's 40th anniversary. There are a total of 503 books of different areas for TAR College students to loan. Madam Tan also presented the books to selected student representatives and advised students to cultivate good reading habits by reading regularly. With the crime rate rising, it is hard to imagine that there is still a kind soul out there. Madam Tan is one person that is not only a kind soul, she is also a good daughter, continuing her father's legacy of helping people.
