KUALA LUMPUR: More than 100 students, staff and alumni of Tunku Abdul Rahman College (TARC) recently took part in a gotong-royong near the college at Taman Bunga Raya.

Together with members of the Taman Bunga Raya neighbourhood watch, exco members of the School of Arts and Science (SAS) Alumni Society and Kuala Lumpur City Hall’s (DBKL) Wangsa Maju division, the group, armed with spades and scrapers, braved the rain as they divided into four groups and removed rubbish in their designated sectors.

"This community service helps inculcate positive values as well as civic-mindedness among our students and at the same time, foster a caring society," said TARC principal Tan Chik Heok.

After the work was done, all the participants were treated to a nasi lemak lunch.
